MOS

Taurine is an amino acid found in tissues and organs throughout the body that supports brain and heart health and has an extremely important function in retinal and visual functions

Glucosamine plays an important role in protecting the cartilage structure by having a gel structure that prevents the joints from hitting and rubbing against each other.

Whey Protein supports fat burning and preserves muscle mass.

Chondroitin helps to restore the health of joint cartilage tissue.

It is a prebiotic that is effective in maintaining the balance of the microflora of the digestive tract of animals, stimulating the immune system and binding mycotoxins.

Psyllium

Psyllium contains specially processed lignocellulose and psyllium fiber to support digestive system health and prevent the formation of hairballs.

Similar to each benefits for humans, blueberries help prevent cell and tissue damage due to their antioxidant properties. As a good source of fiber and vitamin C, blueberries reduce the risk of urinary tract infections and improve night vision.

While supporting skin and coat health, micro algae is a rich source of essential fatty acids and amino acids that are essential for the heart, nervous and circulatory systems.

Carob is a healthy food source rich in vitamins and minerals and high in fiber. It also positively affects bone health thanks to its high calcium content.

Rosemary extract shows strong antioxidant and anti-inflammatory properties. By eliminating stress induced radicals in the organism, it improves the general health of animals and supports the immune system.

Reported to have anti-inflammatory, arthritis pain relieving, gastrointestinal disorders and anti-allergy effects, turmeric extract is an important nutraceutical food.

Yucca schidigera helps to reduce fecal odor. Supports the immune system.

Rich in omega 6 fatty acids, chicken fat supports skin and coat health. Helps reduce hair loss.

Rich in omega 3 fatty acids, salmon oil supports healthy functioning of the eyes, heart and brain. Strengthens immunity.

Egg is a great protein source, is rich in essential amino acids essential for optimum growth.

Due to antiseptic substances and antioxidant compounds from the cranberry extract, it promotes the health of the urinary system and strengthens the antioxidant defense mechanism necessary for the organism.

Antarctic Krill is not only a superior source of omega 3, but also a powerful antioxidant with astaxanthin, natural choline and a delicious source of marine protein.

RAW MATERIAL SUPPLY

The supply of quality raw materials, which is of great importance for the nutritional value of our foods, is the responsibility of our experienced team. All raw materials we use in our foods are selected for a complete and balanced nutrition of our pets.

As the quality and continuity of the raw materials used in formula production is of great importance, the criteria specific to the raw materials are known by our expert team and tested in our state-of-the-art laboratory. In addition to the raw materials in our existing laboratory, research on alternative raw material sources is ongoing. Thus, our four legged friends are always supported to be fed at a high level. Our aim is to keep the continuity of nutritious foods under control at all times while maintaining the most affordable costs.

PRODUCTION

Our formulas with more than a hundred special ingredients for our pets are produced with the state-of-the-art "Twin Screw Extrusion" system. Customized for pet food, this system supports the production of nutritionally balanced foods that are also attractive to pet owners. With the advanced automation system, perfect process control is achieved through the operation of the systems.
